

FROM PULASKI.

FR. CHRONICLE.—When I parted with you I thought I would comply with your request, immediately upon my return home; but as press of work awaited me, and such as could not be neglected, my trip among old friends gave me great pleasure. Though some of the circumstances attending the visit were sad, at Enn I met with many old friends, true and tried. Some of those friendships were formed in the bivouac of Southern battles, Miles and years have never severed these ties. When I arrived little Maud Rushing, a sweet little girl, lay a corpse in her beloved mother's house. At 3 o'clock p. m. I urged upon them that it was "well with the child," and we put her away. Her mother had prepared for her a beautiful white suit to wear to the Sunday school concert, but she wore it to her grave, and her spirit went away to join in the song of the angels. On the following Sunday—morning a large assembly of citizens, and many of them Masons, congregated on the hillside to pay a tribute to the memory of C. S. Humphreys, who died of yellow fever Oct. 11, 1878. Clerk of the Circuit Court, steward in the Methodist Church, and loved for his many virtues by a large circle of friends. God spared his co-workers, V. R. Harris, and I trust for a noble purpose. At 3 p. m. of the same day, I administered holy communion to Mrs. Lee, mother of J. S. Lee, County Court clerk, an octogenarian ripe for the kingdom of God. At night I worshipped with Bro. Brown, who will soon leave one of the best pastoral charges in the Tennessee Conference, carrying hundreds of hearts with him. From Clarksville I found my way to a community that I dearly love. The joyous occasion that called me was saddened by a double bereavement. "My old Kentucky home," a dear to my heart by a decade of fond associations, gave up a spirit that had gladdened it from her childhood, and Jimmie Crutchfield led to the altar Miss Eliza Carmel, and claimed her for his own. On Thursday night I worshipped with old friends at Cedar Hill, and Friday returned home.

Our city is quiet. The commencing over. I am glad to say that I have never witnessed a more satisfactory examination in my life than the one just closed at Martin Female College. I pronounce Prof. W. K. Jones one of the most thorough school men that I have ever seen with my good fortune to meet. His familiarity with books is truly wonderful. His examination of his classes in Latin, Physiology, Astronomy, and other branches, not only gave satisfaction, but commanded the admiration of all who witnessed it. He is an earnest, honest, and faithful worker in the cause of education and religion.

You have announced the suicide of Irene Parker, Esq., of this place. It was one of the saddest affairs that have taken place here for years. Mr. Parker was the son of one of the best citizens in Giles county. He was a young man of talent, and had enjoyed superior advantages. His rash act was doubtless the result of dissipation and remorse. The prevalence of suicide is shocking. Some young man on the down-grade of dissipation may read this letter, I want to save him. The tendency of whiskey and cards is to make a man leathie and despise himself. This leads to self-destruction. Though it may be committed in a Christian land it is heathenish.

When a young man finds himself all covered in crime and remorse why don't he arise and go to his father? Why don't he place himself down at the feet of a loving mother? Confess all, forsake all, and hear the counsels of those who have suffered and sacrificed so much for him, and would willingly die for him? Ingratitude is a base passion. For a young man to return a shattered skull and scattered brain to his father and mother is ungrateful beyond expression. Hardly a daily paper that does not announce some horrible suicide, and I believe that a law ought to be passed preventing their announcement. I believe they increase the number.

Young man, go, see a Christian bear his trouble! Watch him in the darkest hour of earthly ill. Hear him as he pleads for grace to help. God answers him. Do you see how his countenance changes? He has merged his will into the will of his Heavenly Father. Go thou and do likewise. If you have courted your cups abandon them. If you have been found at the card-table leave it forever. "Where shall I go, young man, cleanse his way? By taking heed thereto according to thy word." Go to that word and in it you will find healing for your soul.

The revival season is upon us. Almost every mail brings the Macedonian cry, "Come over and help us!" T. J. DUNCAN.

FROM OREGON'S X-ROADS.

EDITORS CHRONICLE.—Thinking that you perhaps would give space in your columns to a few news items from the 17th District, I have ventured to take the risk of the waste-basket, and will proceed to enumerate some of the most important items.

On last Friday morning our usually quiet little neighborhood was thrown into a little excitement in consequence of a sharp command to halt, followed by three pistol-shots in quick succession, with the exclamation, "shoot him! shoot him!" Several of us ran out, expecting to see an escaped prisoner or murderer come dashing by. But we soon ascertained from the dust and noise that the pursuers and pursued had left the main road and were then making railroad time through a field of about 400 yards length. We put off at break-neck speed, hoping to immortalize ourselves by the capture of some desperado (provided he was unarmed). After running about 300 yards, we met Esq. Blackford and family. We both halted to make enquiry of each other, and I learned from the Esq. that three men had just passed a little to his left, all afoot, and the leader seeming to be pursued by the other two men. The Squire assured me that he could and would have caught the fugitive but for his wife. All of which I of course believed, until I examined the tracks of that fugitive, then I was convinced from the length of the strides that the "Squire's" better judgment persuaded him that owing to his complicity and June weather he would not be known in the race. After this deduction the race and returned to the store. There I found Mr. Lat. Parrott, a very efficient constable from Dickson county, also Mr. Martin, a special deputy, with their prisoner and his wife. The prisoner was one of the late jail-breakers of Clarksville, by the name of Cooley. He was charged with burglary and theft. Since his escape from jail he came back to Leatherwood creek, in Dickson county, and as consequence of his visit several other houses were broken into, all of which he is accused of. Owing to his familiarity with the country he had managed to dodge the officers of the law until Parrott struck his trail on last Thursday evening about dark. Friday morning at daylight Parrott was in the saddle. After riding 18 miles he overtook Cooley within 300 yards of this place about 7 o'clock. As it happened to be in a lane, Cooley jumped over the fence. Parrott tried to bring him in by shooting all around him, but after emptying his pistol Parrott's only hope was to catch him, which he did after running him 500 yards on foot. Several negro men who were working in the field through which they passed have decided to surrender if Parrott ever gets after them. As I am not a citizen of Dickson county, and will not be wanted on the jury, I can form or express an opinion. Although I know nothing of Cooley's guilt or innocence, I think he is a bold, bad young man, as there was no evidence of shame when accused, but he seemed to like to boast of his escape from jail, race, etc. But for the present we will let him rest in the cell from which he escaped, as Parrott doubtless delivered him to the jail on Friday evening.

The wheat has nearly all been harvested; the crop is unusually light, quality, extra. Oats are splendid, but rather low on thin land; acreage considerably over average. Corn is looking well, has been generally well cultivated. With good seasons throughout the summer the crop will be good. Tobacco—There has been two-thirds of a crop set, but owing to the light seasons and grasshoppers the stand is bad. With a good rain this week there may be an average prospect.

Mr. Wm. Durham killed a large rattlesnake with 10 rattles, while harvesting. It is the only one that has been killed in this district for several years. The health of our district is generally good.

Respectfully,
June 28, 1879. D. G. E.

Visit to the Female College.

Editors Chronicle.—Thinking a few items from this side of the river would not be objectionable, I take the opportunity of writing a few lines. On Monday evening in company with a bachelor friend, we started to Corbendale. Having a long ride to travel between this and Vernon Furnace there was not much to attract our attention. My horse having lost a shoe I determined upon our markets the farthest from Corbendale. Dr. Pierce's Family Remedies are far more popular to-day than ever before. The people have tested them and know them to be genuine remedies for the diseases they are recommended to cure. The Golden Medical Discovery and Purgative Pills are the best of all. Dr. Pierce's Family Remedies can be used in chronic diseases of the stomach and liver. The world-wide popularity of the Favorite Family Remedies is not falling remedy for Female Diseases, would have alone secured its discovery. We have in stock a good lot of second-hand work at low prices. Old work in the best manner. Repairing done on the shortest notice and in the best manner. Next visited the family of Mr. P. H. Dillon where we spent the night. Here we met the Rev. E. S. Jones, pastor of the Palmyra church. He is a young man of promise, and bids fair some day to be a shining light in the Tennessee Conference. The next morning in company with Mr. Dillon we went to the home of Mr. Dillon. This factory makes ax, pick and hatchet handles, it turns out from 1,200 to 1,500 per day.

Having business with S. A. Wilson, Esq., we determined to go to his house. Wilson we heard a noise to our right on a hillside; stopping to ascertain what it was, we saw an old colored woman a way off from any house, not knowing that there was a human being in a half mile of her, she was shouting and praising the Lord for his goodness. We hitched our horses and went to her and asked her if she was happy. She said yes. We told her that we thought perhaps when we first heard her that she was crazy. Her answer was, "No, mister, I've got more sense when I am this way than at any other time." On investigation we found that she was a widow of the old Dr. Marable. We left this old woman feeling that we had been none the worse for seeing her. We reached Esq. Wilson's just in time for dinner. Esq. Wilson had an hour or two with the "Squire" we started for home, arriving in due time. OBSERVER.

The Crushed Serrander.
San Francisco News Letter.

Young Bilkins went to serenade his girl on Van Ness avenue. The amateur orchestra, of which he is a member, had hardly quitted out the first two bars of "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," when the second-story window went up and old Boggs, Amelia's father, stuck his head out and remarked: "Is there no way of compromising this thing?"

"What—what?" gasped Bilkins.

"Yes, say, can't we make some arrangement to get out of this matter. How does four dollars and an old dog stove strike you?"

"Why—this—this is a serenade," exclaimed Bilkins.

"Exactly; so I see. Now, suppose I were to stand the beer and car fare all round, wouldn't you go out in the suburbs somewhere and work off the rest of it in front of some deaf and dumb asylum or other?"

"Well, I'm blowed!" ejaculated the crushed lover.

"I should think you would be hitched to the end of that big truncheon. Don't point it this way, for heaven's sake; it might go off!"

"Come down here and say 'that like a man,'" roared the big drunk who was full of Budweiser and fury. "You baldheaded old pellen, come down here!"

"I—think we had better—better go, as it were, boys," murmured the mortified Bilkins, and the disgusted band walked away off, successfully ignoring Boggs' parting injunctions to reform and lead better lives, after the thing blew over.

Your Local Paper.

You might nearly as well forget your churches, your academies and school-houses, as to forget your local paper. It speaks to ten times the number of your local minister does. It is read eagerly each day and week from beginning to end. It reaches you all, and as it has a lower price and less wisdom than a sermon, it has a thousand times better chance at you. Lying, as it does, on every table in almost every house, you are sure to see it, and to be influenced by it. It is a character in your life, and a limitation of the importance, interest and welfare of all. It is the aggregate of your own consequence, and the only way to get it without miserably depreciating yourself.—Chicago Ledger.

A Colorado inventor is walking across the river at Leesworth, on patent water shoes. On June 6, he started from the upper side of the Missouri river bridge, and although the current was running the rate of fourteen miles an hour, the river was crossed in nine and a half minutes. After resting a few moments, he showed the audience how to manage the shoes, and how they could be steered in any direction one wished to go. The shoes were then attached together making a perfect buoy or life-preserver, upon which the occupant could sit or lie with ease and safety.

Once while Randolph, of Roanoke was debating a question in congress he said it was a shame that the noble bull-dog of the administration should waste their time in worrying the rats of the opposition." He was called to order but the speaker ruled in his favor. This encouraged him, he pointed his long fingers at the members of the opposition and fairly roared: "Rats, did I say? Mice! Mice!"

A Word to Doubters.

There is a good old English maxim which teaches us to "believe every man honest until we know him to be a villain." American custom seems to have reversed this law and appears to make every man a villain until he has proved himself an honest man. As with people, so with things. Every article placed upon our markets the farthest from Corbendale. Dr. Pierce's Family Remedies are far more popular to-day than ever before.
